WESTERN CANADA'S CASE

BY THIS TIME Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, will have heard sufficient about the case for Western Canada to enable him to determine which way the wind is blowing. That, probably, was the main purpose of his kite flying announcement. Organizations galore, and thousands of letters and telegrams have poured into Ottawa on the subject of the proposed abolition of the minimum price of wheat.

By far the most able presentation of the case for Western Canada from probably the best authority in wheat in Canada, came from John I. MacFarland in speaking over the air under the auspices of the C. C. F. He advocated a continuation of the Wheat Board which he had the privilege of heading for some years under the Bennett Administration. In discussing wheat no man will allege that John I. MacFarland did not know his subject, and the Dominion Government would do well to pay more than ordinary attention to such expert opinion.

The picture certainly is not bright, but, if the acreage bonus means in fact analysis, a reduction in wheat acreage and by that fact alone, a corresponding reduction in wheat production, it looks like a suicidal policy in Canadian economies. That would not be long in being demonstrated.

It is a mistake to consider that either the minimum price or the acreage bonus are relief measures for the benefit of farmers. They are more than that; they go to the very root of our national prosperity. It only remains to decide on which policy to follow.

The acreage bonus will help the small farmer, and, if the price on the open market is low enough, it will ruin the large farmer, and with him any prospect of prosperity at all for Western Canada. The minimum price administered by a Wheat Board costs though it may prove to be, except in the cases of crop failures, will at least provide work and wages for millions who will otherwise become idle and charges on the public purse.

A NEW PARTY

THE LIBERAL PARTY and the Conservative Party have been with us, except for short intermissions occasioned by such emergencies as the Great War, since Confederation. From these parties we have formed Governments. They have provided good Government and have been successful. New parties have been born and died without ever achieving power. These seem to rise mostly in troubled times, and presently we seem to have a plethora of them in our midst.

According to present indications there will be the Liberals, the Conservatives, the C. C. F., and in the absence of proper names for them "The McCullagh's" and "The Herridges." Remembering what H. H. Stevens did to the Conservative Party in 1925 by the organization of his Reconstruction Party, we imagine that the Prime Minister must be indulging in many smiles of satisfaction at seeing his official opposition split into so many groups into so many groups.

Yet if he would only look a little further into the root causes of the creation of these mushroom parties, he would probably learn that absence of real leadership (in both of the old line parties), procrastination instead of action, laziness instead of industry, extravagance and bad instance of frugality, needless expense instead of needed economies, and commissions to investigate instead of action to ameliorate, are their breeding grounds.

The reputation of the present Government, rightly or wrongly earned, of being a "Do Nothing" Government has probably contributed more than anything else to the advent of these two new groups in our midst, and there does not seem to be any certainty in the public mind that the Conservative Party would alter that condition of affairs materially. The others may be and probably are, the economic popular resentment, or Social Credit, or the disfigure.

A CONTRAST

HITLER, by threats of naval, military, and aerial might, has made himself master of Continental Europe in a few short years. There is no nation in Europe which has not cast fearful eyes in his direction and wondered what his next move might bring forth. Only a short while ago the New Statesman said that "if we do not reform otherwise, consolidate our forces and unite our policies, a second Munich will be a repetition of the first and a prelude to the third." Even as this is written the second Munich has taken place, what the prelude to the third may be we do not know. He has achieved his ends in ruthless fashion and the end does not appear in sight.

In a different land in a world worshipping apparently at the feet of military might, a picture of a different kind is portrayed: the Empire of India disorganized and disrupted, business at a complete standstill, a powerful prince paring with paternal power; letters, cables, prayers, petitions pouring in by millions—and all because a little chap in a loincloth went east.

In his sphere Hitler is powerful. Is his power any greater than that displayed by Gandhi? Force may be met with force, and force may by force be overcome. But if a man (or a nation) won't fight—and won't eat?—we leave the answer to you.

Just the same we imagine that if Herr Hitler were ruler of India, and Germany in place of Great Britain were India's master, the fate of Gandhi would not be long in abeyance. He would be "liquidated." At the same time it may be said that the world has never seen a greater display of passive power of passive resistance than that displayed by Mohandas Gandhi.

DAMAGES

BECAUSE a certain lady equipped with three inch high-heeled shoes caught her heel in a sidewalk crevice, and fell, suffering a slight fracture, B. C. judge awarded her damages amounting to $107,000 and all her expenses. The Court took judicial notice that women wear high heels. We suppose that it suits because fashionable amongst the female sex, the precedent will be followed.

IN ANOTHER case in England a mourner following a hearse through the streets, Liverpool, witnessed an automobile crash into the hearse containing the remains of a near relative. She suffered no physical injuries but claimed and recovered a substantial sum of money as damages for shock. This precedent if followed, ought to prove a great boon to damage seekers, and ambulance chasers in the legal fraternity.

FROM OUR EXCHANGE COLUMNS

PAY FOR COUNCILLORS

THE REVOLT of potential council material from taking an office so apparently empty of reward is not surprising. It brings up the suggestion that town councillors should be paid, as municipal councillors are paid. The responsibility of safeguarding the taxpayer, and distributing revenue for general benefit, has surely monetary value. There is also under prevailing conditions, that unanswerable argument "They are working for the town for nothing." What right has anyone to criticize? If they were at least getting a reasonable fee, for attending council meetings, the public would feel less guilty in offering criticism. Strangely enough, it has been the experience of most towns that the governing body has given very capable service and given it as conscientiously as if they had been highly paid. But that has been merely good fortune. It is not contended that the calibre of councillors would be any higher or the service better, if they were paid a salary for attending meetings. But it is a more business-like basis on which to operate town affairs.—Vulcan Advocate.

ARE TIMES BETTER?

NOW THAT Legislative sessions are on, the public throughout Canada is hearing about the fine accomplishments of the reigning governments. One hears of excellent highways which have been built, and advanced educational system, decrease of unemployment, building expansion and so on. That is what they tell us provincially.

In the federal field we hear of increased trade, industrial activity and similar cheering facts and figures. To what degree are all these benefits affecting individuals. Are his taxes decreased? Has he more money to spend? Does his present and his future look more secure?

Sir Wilfred Laurier once said something like this: "Governments do not need to tell the average man that times are better. If better, he realizes it every time he puts his hand in his pocket."—High River Times.

A DIFFICULT PROBLEM

A LOT IS Being done these days concerning the continuation of the wheat board and a minimum price for wheat. We grant that this problem is serious and something must be done, but the continuation of a pegged price, indefinitely, won't do. What the authorities want to do is get down to the root of the evil and make it available for the farmer to lower the cost of production, so as to meet world competition. To do this means a rearrangement of tariffs on goods farmers must buy.—Delburne Times.

THE RAILWAY PROBLEM

EACH $150 OF Income tax collected by the Dominion government is required to meet the cost of the C.N.R. to the federal government for just one minute. Think, $50,000,000 the annual deficit of the C.N.R. that has to be met by the people of Canada. This statement should give every Canadian something to worry about. If any private individual or private corporation was running a business that was going behind every year he or they would look for a remedy and if none were possible, would close the business out. We do not pretend to know anything about the operation or finance of a railway, but we do believe that there are men in Canada with business ability sufficient to do something to solve our railway problem.—Innisfail Province.

PREMIER'S ATTITUDE ON SUDETENS

ONE WOULD Have expected that Alberta's psalm-singing Premier and his Christian government would have greeted the announcement of the federal government to admit 3,000 Sudeten German refugees to Canada. But such was not the case. In words of fact there was very little of the true Christian spirit in words used by Alberta's premier when he dealt with this humanitarian action on the part of the Dominion government in his Bible-talk last Sunday. His selfish attitude is in direct contrast to the vast majority of religious leaders in this province who heartily commend and support the suggestion of Canada providing a place of refuge for these victims of Hitler's spleen.—Trochu Tribune.

THE HOME PAPER

Four little sheets, its printing smudged and blurred. And yet the old folks read it word for word; They're living at the Coast—and all they know; Is back there in a land of wind and snow; That's why they left they couldn't stand the cold. For blood runs thin and sluggish when you're old.

And now they sit among the blooming flowers In solid comfort, yet the summer hours Drag by, and there is nothing much to do, No baking . . . when you only cook for two You buy the bread . . . and dad just never took To passing long, long hours with a book.

They love their little garden and the way The lawn stays green . . . and in the month of May The trees flame out like brides to greet the spring And all the holy bells of heaven ring, Across the lawn where daisies nod their heads, And holy communion in their sunny beds.

Yet when the little old home paper comes In solid comfort, yet the summer hours Drag by, and there is nothing much to do, No baking . . . when you only cook for two You buy the bread . . . and dad just never took To passing long, long hours with a book.

For every item is a personal thing, They know the folks, and so the columns ring Small bells within their hearts, for they can see The faces of old neighbors tenderly, And though they go their lonely ways apart, Still they are members of a small town's heart. —Edna Jannet

No matter what you may have to say in praise of the radio compared with the newspaper, there are a lot of things you can't do, says the editor of Ward County Independent. For instance you can't put a radio broadcast

UNFORGOTTEN

I know a garden where the bright
Shadows gleam,
And one who lingers in the shadows there,
Her heart is filled with hope and Love so full,
And Oh! Her eyes are Heaven,
Lit with dreams,
I know an office—dark and dim,
And one who toils and toils with tireless pen,
Until the brave, and eyes grow weary
then,
He speaks the stars—pale—silent as a star,
And Oh! He strays, for desolate
and dim,
Between these two there rolls an

Yet he is in the garden by her side,
And she is in the office there with

DESCRIBING A KING

A King is a peculiar proposition. Of use to no one, yet absolute bliss for two. The small boy gets it for nothing. The young man has to buy it for it, and the old man has to buy it. The King's right, the lover's privilege, and the hypocrite's mask. To a young girl calls to a married woman, hope, and to some dimes, charity. —B.

Dept. Agriculture Issues Pamphlet on Warble-fly

A community effort for the control of warble flies is emphasized in a circular to be published immediately by the Department of Agriculture. Because warble flies do not migrate for any considerable distance, concerted effort on the part of every owner within a given area will effect almost complete eradication of this pest.

The damage done by the warble flies in Canada is estimated at between seven and fourteen million dollars annually. The insect not only spoils hides but on account of its irritating effect on cattle, it seriously reduces the yield of milk from dairy cows and retards the gains of beef cattle.

The grub of the warble flies can be attacked by man only during the period of their development when they are imbedded in the backs of the cattle. At this time the application of derris root powder or a compound of it, either as a powder or a wash has been found most effective. The cost of treatment is remarkably low and farmers are amply repaid for undertaking control measures in this way.

It is recommended that the first treatment should be made when the lumps caused by the grubs become conspicuous on the backs of the animals, and that second and third treatments should follow at twenty-eight day intervals. Further information on the control of warble flies may be secured from your nearest district agricultural officer, or you may write direct to the Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

The MAIL BAG

MAINTAIN WHEAT BOARD.

The following is a copy of a letter recently written by a resident of the Crowfoot District to the Ottawa committee with regard to the important question of day wheat or the Wheat Board will be maintained for the coming season.

Cluny, Alta.

March 7, 1935.

Hon. J. G. Gardiner,
Minister of Agriculture,
Ottawa, Ont.

Dear Sir,

Believing that continuance of protection for the Wheat Growers during the coming crop season 1935-36 is vital to Western Agriculture and to the economic stability of Canada, I, on behalf of myself and fellow farmers in Western Canada, ask you and your colleagues to continue the wheat board for 1935-36 with a setting of a guaranteed price for No. 1 wheat of $1.00 per bushel at least 80¢ per bushel, but by rights it should be at least 81¢ per bushel to permit the farmer to break even.

The past season 1934-35 with a guaranteed price of 80¢ Fort William the farmer in this district fared about 50¢ per bushel of breaking even. Take my own operations. My wheat cost me 55¢ per bushel country elevator, or $1.01 basis Fort William. The farmer can't exist at less than $1.00 Fort William basis No. 1 Northern.

You and your colleagues do the farmer, the backbone of Canada, a great wrong if the guaranteed price is less than $1.00 Fort William, but the figure I have put down in the paper of 60¢ is absolutely preposterous but 80¢ is better than no guarantee price. On behalf of myself and neighbours, I ask for an absolute minimum of $1.00 or at least 80¢, which we had last season.

Why have a Royal Commission appointed to find the cost of growing wheat and have the guarantee on cost. Not so long ago I saw in the press an analysis of the cost of growing wheat in a large area and, from memory, I believe it was $1.03 Fort William which gratifyingly checks with my cost figures. Possibly some in especially favored districts had larger farms of 4000 acres and on large equipment can make wheat at less than 85¢ in country elevators but generally the cost is 85¢ country elevator, or $1.04 per bushel Fort William.

This is respectfully submitted to you for yourself and about 35 of my neighbours in this district.

J. T. Todd, Cluny.
